Core Value: Justice

By Mr. Yung

To quote Ann Landers, "Maturity is the ability to do a job whether or not you are supervised, to carry money without spending it and to bear an injustice without wanting to get even." As March closes to an end, it is important to reflect upon our core value of the month: justice. Justice is often associated with maturity because both involve degrees of fairness, responsibility, and integrity. At Seven Hills, our students explore these themes to help prepare them for leadership roles. One of our goals for students to understand is that how we act in difficult situations and the attitudes we project on a daily basis are a direct reflection of our beliefs and values. Our students should strive for more than just great grades or perfect attendance; values like understanding justice help better enable our students to become true leaders.
